

St Mark's School Newsletter

Term 1 Week 8
25 March 2021

Kia ora Te Kura o Hato Māka whānau,

It has been a busy week for us all with a number of our specialist programs at the forefront of some of our students learning:

Taylor's Mistake Beach Clean-Up

On Monday a number of senior students travelled to Taylor's Mistake to pick up rubbish. This trip was part of a project led by Olive H but a wonderful opportunity to gauge the content and scale of rubbish in the immediate area, which led to a debate on the ethical questions around littering.

Rubix Cube Club

There is a passionate group of "cubers" who gather in Waka Puhara on Monday lunchtimes. They delight in the algorithms in the different shapes and it was great to join them to check out progress. For this old "non-cuber" I was astonished at their skill and the different shapes of cubes that now exist.

Triathlon

This week a number of athletes from St Mark's School competed in the Canterbury Primary School Competition. It was a tough course with a daunting lake swim (BRRRRR). We are proud of all competitors, but offer a special congratulations to Pippa W (6th!) and Zara P (8th!) in the year 5 girls event. Brilliant work girls.

Art

This week I was able to congratulate some budding artists in the Senior School who have been focussed on perspective drawing in Mr Rennie's art classes. Aurora C-L is a talent!

Technology

Today year 5 were working with Mr Gordon harnessing the natural power of air pressure to create balloon powered cars. There were many and varied creations all with the main goal of moving quickly and in a straight line!

Writing

This week there has been a steady stream of writers to my office for recognition of outstanding writing work. Also special, has been the opportunity to visit many classrooms and look at the writing of so many of our tamariki. It is a priority in our school, built on strong oral programs starting with our youngest students telling/sharing stories and their important life events.

Music

Mrs Wells is encouraging as many musicians as possible to share their talents at our Monday student led service. To date the talents of Theodore and Mackenzie H have delighted the school. Thank you so much boys for performing for us so brilliantly. We are encouraging others to step up to this opportunity.

Next week we will present the orchestra badges for our team of musicians who are growing in their ability to play together and thank Josie Stanford for her encouraging work here.

Paul Ellis continues to lead our choirs with his very special brand of expertise and we look forward to the choirs contributions at our centennial celebrations.

Holy Week

Next week is Holy Week. There are services each morning and we would love for you to join us for some or all of these services. Rev. Ben does an amazing job of squeezing Easter into this week - not to be missed. All services start at 9.00am.

Social Development

This week I have been asked questions about those aspects of social development that impact learning. It is an understatement to say how crucial this is, but hard to quantify. It goes directly to wellbeing, resilience, respect and kindness, and emotional intelligence. I am proud of our staff and their energy to outwork our special character through the relationships our tamariki encounter every day.

When those social relationships impact negatively we have to act quickly to address concerns. Working with groups/classes of our ākonga in the playground or in the classroom is as important as working with whānau. It is a privilege, and conversations are the best and only way I know how.

Me te aroha nui.
Averil
